

Design Portfolio

This website will showcase my skill as an artist. It will display various art pieces that I have created and my contact information.

Audience: Potential clients and business firms looking to hire

Purpose: The website will be used to showcase my skills as a graphic designer when applying for jobs.

Site goals: I hope to have a stable website that easily displays my work.

The website must be easy to navigate while being visually appealing.

Upcoming and Current Events

January 2023

- MLK Day (Jan 16th) is the grand re-opening of Northwest African American Museum (NAAM). AshaAung will feature along side other Gallery Onyx artists in this show running until mid April, 2023. The grand opening will be from 1pm to 5pm, with an 18+ after party from 5pm to 8pm. You can donate to NAAM and find more information here.

About Asha

AshaAung Helmstetter is an oil and mixed media painter who was born and brought up in Seattle's Central District, where she is still based today. At seventeen years old, Asha realized that she would dedicate very much of her life to art, and has spent the years since actualizing that reality for herself. Having left school early to manage chronic health issues while focusing on her personal and artistic development, Asha has very little formal training. In 2021, she received SOIL Gallery's Young Artist Residency, and she is currently part of Wa Na Wari's 2022-2022 Artist in Residence cycle. Asha has also been featured on the cover of Real Change News and was recipient of the 2021 Foundry Young Artist Grant.

While she has many mentors, and takes inspiration from art that exists everywhere, her style shows the independent exploration that comes with somewhat isolated learning. Her paintings reflect her imagination, and perseverance: two things that are difficult to miss when encountering her person, or any of her creations.
